MRS. SETTLE IN JAIL DECLARES POISONING WAS AWFUL MISTAKE

Accused Mother Stoutly Maintains She Did Not Mean to Kill Babe

TRIED TO QUIET IT Believed Deadly Lysol to Be Catnip Tea, She Tells Reporter Tuesday

Altho she made what was considered a confession a few days ago that she poisoned her five-day-old son, Mrs. Nina Rose Settle, 19, stoutly maintained that she is innocent of any intention to kill the child, when interviewed by a Tribune and Times-Age reporter at the county jail, Tuesday morning. She said that she could not get the baby to quit crying and took from a dish what she supposed was catnip tea or saffron and gave it to the child. She said she tasted it first herself and that it tasted bitter but did not burn her mouth.

"The thought of doing away with the baby never entered my mind," said Mrs. Settles. "I always was fond of children and had no intention of taking my baby's life. My mother always gave catnip tea to children when they were sick and I supposed that was what I was giving the baby."

When asked who is the father of the child, she said she did not know. She said she did not know she was in a delicate condition at the time she married Donald Settles in Canton. She said she did not know where the soldier is who she claims assaulted her on the way home from a social at her former home in Grand Tower, Ill. last January. It is supposed he is the father of the child that died at West Lafayette the night of October 5.

She said she and her husband are still friendly and that she was expecting him to come to Coshocton soon as he had told her he would bring her a pig and the rest of her wearing apparel. She said she was anxious for word to come from Columbus, with reference to the analysis of the child's internal organs, as she is anxious to get out of jail on bond. She said she had never been in jail before and that it is very monotonous. She seems to feel that she will be cleared of the charge.

The long delay in receiving the report of the chemical analysis at Columbus tends to strengthen the theory that it may not have been lysol or carbolic acid which she gave the child, as it would seem that so long a time would not be required to determine the matter if a strong poison had been administered.

MRS. ELIHU DARR IS TO BE BURIED HERE WEDNESDAY AT TWO

Mrs. Elihu Darr, 61, 127 Walnut-st., died Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock following a lingering illness from anemia. She had been confined to her home for the past three months unable to walk as a result of a fall in which she broke her hip.

Mrs. Darr's maiden name was Leora Alverda Richcreek. She was born in Coshocton and had been a resident here all her life.

She was a Christian woman who enjoyed a large circle of admiring friends.

Mrs. Darr was a member of Grace M. E. church and a faithful attendant of that body. She is survived by her husband and children: Mrs. Basil Tumbler, Isleta; Ralph Darr, 354 south Third-st., Olive Darr, Coshocton; and French Darr, Coshocton Route 5. One sister, Mrs. Jane Roberts, Conesville, survives.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. I. Wean of Grace M. E. church and Rev. Charles Day of Conesville M. E. church, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late home on Walnut-st.

Burial will be made at South Lawn cemetery.

ELECTION RETURNS WILL BE SHOWN INDOORS OUT OF RESPECT FOR THE COMFORT COUNTY'S WOMEN VOTERS

Sixth Street Theater and National Telegraph Service By Private Wire Leased For Election Night By Tribune Co.—Snappy Program of Music and Specialties Being Arranged For Community Gathering—Hot Local, State and National Returns to Be Flashed On Screen Until Early Morning Hours

In view of the uncertainty of the weather at this time of year and the additional fact that hundreds of women voters will be keenly desirous this year of learning if they have backed a winning ticket, The Tribune and Times-Age has secured the Sixth Street theater for next Tuesday evening, November 2, and will flash the election returns from its leased telegraph wire there instead of on the street.

In addition to the regular election bulletin service a number of other features will be given to add to the enjoyment of the evening. The regular Sixth Street theater orchestra has been engaged to furnish music, while several musical surprises have been arranged for. There will also be other forms of entertainment interspersed among the returns from county, state and nation.

As there will be few returns of any significance early in the evening the house will not be opened until 8:30. This will give the regular attendants at the picture theaters an opportunity to attend the first show and still get to the Sixth Street theater in time to see the fun. The house will be open until the small hours of the morning.

The paper is providing every facility at its command to insure prompt and complete election service. In its office next door to the theater it has its own leased wire, manned by an operator of years of experience. This wire will remain open until at least 2:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, or as long as there are returns coming in of sufficient importance to warrant the maintenance of the service.

Locally the paper will co-operate with both the Republican and Democratic committees. The entire newspaper staff will be busy receiving and compiling local returns, and preparing the telegraph bulletins. These bulletins will be taken directly to the theater and should be flashed on the screen within a few moments after receipt.

In addition to the regular orchestra it is no secret to say that there will be other good vocal and instrumental music, but for further information about the extra features application will have to be made at the theater box office window that evening. Suffice to say there will be plenty of entertainment to supplement the election returns and the audience will have no complaint to make about the evening being a dull one in any respect. It will at least be a vast improvement for the election night crowds over the old plan of standing for hours on a street corner staring at the same old bulletin for five minutes at a time.

To help partially in defraying the heavy expenses of the evening's fun a nominal charge of 25, 15 and 10 cents respectively will be charged for the downstairs, balcony and gallery. There will be no reserved seats, however, and the rule of first come first served will be invoked.

After months of partisanship let's have a People's Party for one evening where we can all enjoy views which all patriotic Americans can applaud and which have no partisan rancor or sting.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH MINERS' STRIKE PEACEABLY

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Optimism over the strike situation pervaded official circles today. The executive committee of the Federation of Miners met during the morning to consider further the government's settlement proposals after which officials of the miners left for Downing Street to continue their conference with Lloyd George.

The coal scarcity is curtailing sporting events because of the numerous cancellations of train schedules. All racing, including the Cambridgeshire meet has been called off.

Despite the expected settlement the government has proceeded to second reading of the bill granting military assistance.

Seymour Steadman candidate for vice president of the United States on the Socialist ticket has sent a cablegram wishing the miners victory in their struggle. It was sent on behalf of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for president.

Mrs. Strouse charges her husband with extreme cruelty, alleging that for many years he would get drunk and abuse her. She says he left her last June and his present address is unknown. T. H. Wheeler is her attorney.

GREEK KING IS DEAD FROM BITE OF PET MONKEY

Funeral Friday May Be Second to Choosing of Successor in Minds of Erist-while Subjects

ATHENS, Oct. 26.—The body of the late King Alexander will be taken to the cathedral tomorrow where it will lie in state until Friday when the funeral will be held.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dramatic diplomatic struggle for control of the Greek throne was promised today as a result of the death of King Alexander in Athens yesterday from blood poisoning.

Three courses are open, but the final decision probably will be dictated by the allies. A regency may be proclaimed, a foreign prince may be selected as Alexander's successor, or a Republic may be established with Premier Venizelos as president. The names of Prince Arthur of Connaught and Prince Sixtus of Bourbon-Parma, have been suggested as possible successors to the throne.

A dispatch from Athens said that preparations are under way for a great state funeral.

Alexander was the second son of former King Constantine. He was born in 1893 and ascended the throne July 17, 1917, three days after the expulsion of Constantine from Greece by the allies. His official designation was "King of Hellenes." The Greek Crown Prince, George, was not allowed to succeed father because of his pro-German sympathies.

Alexander was bitten by a monkey on October 2, while protecting a pet dog from the simian. Blood poisoning developed. Prof. Vidal, a noted French specialist was rushed to Athens to consult with the physicians already in attendance.

The King's Morganatic wife, Apasia Monos, arrived in Athens recently and was installed in the royal palace where she nursed her husband.

PROMINENT S. A. MAN TO ADDRESS "ARMISTICE DAY" AUDIENCE NOV. 11

Brigadier Bailler, Cleveland, and in command of the Salvation Army Division of Ohio, will deliver the principal address at the local court square Armistice Day, November 11. He will speak in the afternoon from the court house steps.

The American Legion men from this county are fortunate in securing Brig. Bailler for this event in Coshocton.

The local legion men are already selling tickets for the masked ball to be given at Moose hall following the parade which will be conducted on the main streets of Coshocton in the evening.

The fraternal orders which have already picked their hearty support toward making this event a success are hoping to participate in the parade 100 per cent. Scores of autos and "floats" decorated in various colors will also be seen in the parade.

The reports of the various committees of Ralph Courtwright Post No. 65 assert that this is to be one of the biggest and best celebrations of its kind ever held in Coshocton. The program for the day and evening has been completed and all is now awaiting the time.

A number of the post members were present at the meeting held in the Elk club rooms Monday evening.

Five More Hunger Strikers Nearing Death In Jail at Cork

MINOR DISTURBANCES

Inquest Announced By Officials to Be Held Wednesday

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Final plans were made today for a great and impressive funeral for Terence MacSwiney, the late lord mayor of Cork, who died in Brixton jail yesterday morning after a hunger strike of nearly 74 days.

The greatest honors ever paid to a leader in the movement for Irish freedom will be accorded the late lord mayor. Large numbers of Sinn Fein officials are coming from Ireland to take part.

Archbishop Mannix of Australia, who was prevented from going to Ireland by the British government, will assist at the services.

A solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated at St. George's Roman Catholic cathedral in Southwark at 11 o'clock on Thursday morning by the Very Rev. D. O'Meara. Other prelates who will assist are Dr. Cotter, bishop of Portsmouth and Dr. Anigo, bishop of Southwark.

A great procession will march to the church. It will be symbolic of the silent sorrow of Ireland. There will be no music of any kind.

Scotland Yard has arranged for a heavy police guard to protect the marchers from any disorders. The streets thru which the procession will pass will be lined with policemen.

Scores of national and civic organizations in Ireland will have representation at the funeral.

MacSwiney's body is still in Brixton jail, but will be removed to the cathedral either late today or tomorrow. The home office offered no interference to the plans for a great public funeral.

DUBLIN, Oct. 26.—A Sinn Feiner was reported killed in an attack on Tempo Barracks near Enniskillen county Fermanagh today. The attackers were driven off. A member of the Royal Irish constabulary who was wounded in a fight near Grange, died today.

CORK, Oct. 26.—Five of the remaining nine Sinn Fein hunger strikers in Cork jail were reported to be rapidly nearing death today.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The death of another Sinn Fein hunger striker, Joseph H. Murphy, in the Cork jail, fifteen hours after the death of Terence MacSwiney has aroused feeling in Ireland to a high pitch and the whole country was today under the greatest armed guard of British soldiers and policemen in its history.

Firing broke out at Cork during the night. Men wearing the uniforms of British policemen motored to the center of the city and fired thirty shots which smashed shop windows according to dispatches from that city.

CENTER VALLEY HAS 28 CASES WHOOPING COUGH; NO SCHOOL

The Center Valley school district is in the throes of a whooping cough epidemic. The Center Valley school was closed Monday morning on account of 28 cases of whooping cough.

According to the Health Commissioner, Dr. D. M. Griswell, Plainfield, the spread of the disease is due to the fact that the heads of the families did not employ a physician in time. It is the duty, according to the health commissioner, of the head of a family to report the case when the person or persons first become ill within their home.

Both whooping cough and scarlet fever cases are reported as existing in this county.

Action Planned is Reply of Administration to Campaign Charge That Big Profiteers Have Been Shielded

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The government is ready to press indictments for alleged profiteering against a large group of industrial leaders in the multi-millionaire class. It was learned today at the department of justice. Quiet probing of the affairs of the nation's biggest corporations caused officials today to predict that prosecution in wholesale lots soon to be begun, will be an effective, "answer to the campaign cry that the big profiteers have been shielded."

The department of justice obviously cannot disclose many specific facts now before the grand juries, but the extent of the investigation is shown by the statement that at least a score of cases against defendants rated as millionaires are to be brought under the Lever law.

Dominant figures in such large operations as the production of sugar, coal, oil, leather, woollens, textiles, steel and steel products, and building materials and the packing industry are under investigation, and more may be expected.

In many instances prosecutions are planned under the Lever act, and under the anti-trust laws.

MRS. M'MULLEN DIES IN ROSCOE FOLLOWING STROKE OF APOPLEXY

Mrs. Elizabeth McMullen, 70, died Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of her son, Chas. J. McMullen, after a brief illness from inflammation of the brain. She became ill Wednesday of the county fair but seemed to be recovering until last Friday when she suffered an apoplectic stroke.

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Huff. She was born in Coshocton, December 23, 1849. She was married 51 years ago and resided in Braddock, Pa. about 30 years. Her husband died about 20 years ago and since then the greater part of her life has been spent in Roscoe and Coshocton. For the past three months she has lived with her son in Roscoe. Prior to that she resided in Canton for three years with her son, Wm. McMullen.

She was a member of the Roscoe M. E. church and was loved and respected by all who came within the circle of her acquaintance, being a woman of strong Christian principles. Besides her two sons, she leaves two brothers, Charles and Frank Huff, Park-ay, Coshocton, and one sister, Mrs. Theodore Hayes, Chicago, Ill. Four children are dead.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home of her son, C. J. McMullen, in Roscoe Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. Calloway. The body will be taken Wednesday night to Bedford, Pa., where burial will be made.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Attorney General Palmer appeared in the District supreme court today and asked for a further continuance of final argument on the plan of the five large packers for the disposal of their live stock yards.

The attorney general stated the packers will file a new plan for the sale of the stock yards which calls for the sale of the yards to a corporation, yet to be formed, in which the cattle producers will have first opportunity to acquire stock. The corporation will be under the control of five trustees for twenty years, the trustees to be appointed by the court. Provisions are included to prohibit the packers from any control of the stock yards.

This was confined mostly to a history of MacSweeney's former prison record and was probably much less than the amount printed by American papers.

Financial Letter

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The definite advent of the long expected British coal strike has been the most striking event in foreign affairs during the past week. This strike had been in some measure prepared for, but its effects both at home and upon our own country could not be warded off or more than barely mitigated by any amount of preliminary adjustment. It is therefore recognized as essential that the strike be brought to a conclusion as soon as practicable, and to this end negotiations had at first worked with some prospect of success. The latest news, however, suggests an aggravation of the situation by a sympathetic strike of railway workers. Continental conditions point more and more clearly to the final adjustment of the controversy between Poland and Russia upon a semi-permanent basis, and to the opening up of trade between Russia and Europe on some footing that will allow relative freedom of exportation and importation.

Prices and Business

The readjustment of prices and business continues to proceed in domestic industry. Textile lines are now evidently settling down to what is likely to be a fixed footing. In some classes of goods charges at the mills are not so very far above pre-war prices. In fact there are not a few observers who believe that the process of readjustment has gone ahead rather too rapidly in some branches of trade, and that it would be better if a general readjustment on a rather slower basis could be effected. The difficulties of the present case are practically seen in the fact that consumers do not get the benefit for a good while of changes in the prices made by producers or wholesalers. This tends to slow down the readjustment in certain lines and also prevents consumers from taking the goods off the market as they would do if the benefit of reductions could be directly passed on to them. Some trade authorities familiar with the situation now predict a moderate upward reaction in commodity prices prior to the final adjustment of business relationships, particularly in those lines which have suffered the most far reaching cut. All this necessarily makes business conditions uncertain and produces a tendency to curtailment of buying demand with reflected effects on earnings. Thus far, however, in most parts of the country the transition process has gone ahead without very serious effects in enlarging business embarrassments, and it is predicted that a gradual restoration toward normal will now show itself in many lines which have heretofore been suffering from depression. As to this a good deal will depend upon financial and banking conditions during the next month or two.

At the sessions of the American Bankers' Association during the past week interchange of views among the members made it evident that the situation in different parts of the country was gradually righting itself and that pressure for funds had been reduced. Comparison of reports from various districts showed that only in a very limited number of regions is there any anticipation of financial difficulty provided that crops are allowed to move freely to market. Despite a slight downward tendency in the reserve ratio at Federal Reserve banks it has been possible to avoid any material increase in the strain upon the financial resources of the country. Much more has been done thru rediscounts between Federal Reserve bank to relieve the needs of the interior than was ever done in the old days thru shipments of currency or Treasury deposits in banks. It is, in fact, certain that the total extension of aid in this way to the agricultural districts during the current autumn by the agency of inter-bank rediscounts in the Federal Reserve System has been far greater than in any preceding season. Foreign exchange has naturally continued depressed and uncertain, as must be the case so long as there is so great an unsettled balance due the United States and so serious an uncertainty regarding the future of our credit policy. Nevertheless, the fact that during the past week sterling has not gone below $3.40 is a better showing than had been expected by many. The effects of the Anglo-French bond payments upon the market have now practically disappeared. Many projects of further foreign financing are under consideration and with the increased investment demand which now seems to exist appear to have at least a fair chance of success. In so far as they do succeed they have the same influence as the domestic corporate financing upon the banking situation, since by providing cash for the liquidation of immediate liabilities they tend to put conditions back upon a liquid footing.

Banking Outlook Improved.

Progress in Railroad Developments.
Announcement on the part of the Treasury that it had extended loans to railroads in an amount close to $200,000,000 for equipment purposes, together with a list of the railroads thus aided, shows that provision is being made under the terms of the Transportation act for the better outfitting of the carriers. Statistics compiled by the Eastern railroads also show that during a recent month an increase of about two miles a day in car mileage was effected, an increase which may be regarded as equivalent to about 100,000 freight cars. The new purchases of equipment and the increase in efficiency have resulted in a very considerable reduction of freight congestion which has had a correspondingly good effect on business in many parts of the country. Deliveries are now regular and more satisfactory than for a good while past. Coincident with this increase in operating efficiency has gone a very general effort on the part of the roads to curtail the number of their employees where it was possible to do so without reducing their service to the public. In these circumstances the increasing confidence of the public in the better railroad shares evidently has a substantial basis, which accounts for the tolerably steady advance in the price of most of the issues, even in the face of discouraging conditions in some other branches of the market.

Market Review and Outlook

Operations on the Stock Exchange have been upon a lower basis of volume during the past few days. Nevertheless an optimistic tone has prevailed, although the seriousness of the English labor situation occasioned some shading of prices during the last ter part of the week. Still, as a whole, the market has given a pretty good account of itself, which argues well for the future. With the presidential election now so close at hand and the strong belief that the results will be very satisfactory to the country at large, the market from now on ought to exhibit a better undertone, especially as the pursestrings of the banks are being loosened; its technical position could not be better for an advance, as the outstanding short interest is rather large and the floating supply of stocks is small. According to the present reckoning Wall Street loans are down nearly 50 per cent from what they were a year ago. The market may "back and fill" somewhat longer, but it will be very much easier to advance prices than to put them down, as the great bulk of stocks are now held by strong people who believe with Judge Gary that the readjustment process which business generally is undergoing in such an orderly manner will in the end be beneficial. HENRY CLEWS.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $1.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine-cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, get 1/2 ounce of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant. You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "Pinex" or "Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

to a vast policy of militarism when it endorsed military training. It has endorsed all the sedition bills that any body has offered. It therefore stands not only for militarism, but for the suppression of free speech, and the right of peaceable assembly. That it will oppose any man who opposes its reactionary policy is not strange at all.

However I did not expect the politicians at its head to resort to the falsehoods contained in the letter attacking me.

"With hypocritical cant that the legion is not in politics it puts in my mouth things I never said, and perverts and distorts other things I have said and then advises my defeat.

"Unfairness could go no further than this eleven hour attack on me. No fair minded legionnaire will endorse it, and the ex-service men who are in sympathy with my fight against militarism will see the true purpose of the attack. I have nothing to retract. If elected I promise the politicians that I shall use every ounce of my power to defeat their militaristic program, and to kill the sedition bills they have endorsed. I neither ask nor shall I give quarter or concede one inch from my stand in this matter."

ACTING PRESIDENT OF IRISH REPUBLIC DEFIES GT. BRITAIN

DUBLIN, Oct. 26.—Arthur Griffith, Sinn Fein member of parliament, and "acting president of the Irish Republic," in the absence of President DeValera in the United States today accused the British government of adopting a policy to desolate and isolate Ireland. His statement in full follows:

"England proposes, within a few weeks, to blockade Ireland. She proposes further to suppress news of what is happening so that America will not know. I suggest that you Americans send your own press representatives here to turn on the light."

"England's policy towards Ireland for centuries has been based upon the idea that Ireland's impoverishment is essential to England's prosperity."

"Years ago a lord lieutenant (of Ireland) in an interview stated that there were too many young men in Ireland."

"It was the policy of his government to drive them out. Altho England in seventy years has driven out 4,000,000 persons from Ireland, she still lusts for more expatriation and more extermination."

"Since she has failed this time with force she has resorted to a policy of murder and destruction of towns, factories and harvests in an attempt to starve the nation."

"Parliament by refusing an inquiry into the atrocities of its government in Ireland convicts that government of instigating and directing them. Under such smoke screen of calumny set up by Sir Hamar Greenwood and Earl Curzon in commons (during debate on the Irish situation and the motion for a proposed inquiry last Wednesday) she (England) plans to murder the leaders of the Irish nation, a nation she can never conquer."

"While Sir Hamar Greenwood was foully libelling the Irish nation in commons, Mrs. O'Dwyer of Banskha, was standing beside the bodies of her two dead sons who had been dragged from their beds and killed by the English soldiers. To those consoling her, she said:

"My two boys who worked our farm were killed by English soldiers. They were killed without reason or cause. They were shot down virtually before my eyes. Let it be said we will bear it all for Ireland."

"That is the spirit of the Irish mother of seventy. That is the spirit of Ireland."

"Our country is in agony, but it is being redeemed and those suffering and dying for Ireland know, before God in his heaven, that the reign of law based upon consent of the governed which has now been established in Ireland will never be uprooted even by the efforts of the brutal militarism which is England's policy today."

The book and lyrics have a quality of light-heartedness that distinguish them as sure-fired recipes for merriment, and the music is tuneful, and what is more, distinctly original, which would of course be true of any melodies composed by Mr. Herbert. Government Industrial, Not Political

PEOPLE are slowly but surely coming to realize that political campaigns as we have always conducted them appeal more to prejudice than they do to reason. When partisanship is thoroughly aroused men's thinking apparatus takes a vacation.

Politics, considered as the science of government, is one of the noblest studies that men can engage in, but as a means for securing patronage for this party or that and for capturing public office for one set of men as opposed to another, politics is fast becoming a menace to our most cherished institutions.

It is becoming evident to all of us that the American viewpoint must soon change if politics in its best sense is to be preserved among us. In its worst sense we have got to quit politics, or it will prove our undoing.

Politics like war may have been the sport of kings, but in a free country it is a sober, serious business. And when we, the People, have learned that the State is an industrial, rather than a political concern, we will have solved the most urgent problem that confronts our people as a whole.

In a recent article Dr. Frank Crane drives this point home. He declares that "The Great Modern Fact is Business." He says that the condition "which most characterizes this age is the rise of Business as a matter worthy of the best brains and souls." Continuing he says:

"Time was, and not so long ago—and here and there the septic idea lingers in the world like snow in the fence corners in April—that to be engaged in Trade was considered dishonorable, in a way. And you ascended higher and higher in the ranks of nobility in proportion to the length of time elapsed between you and the last ancestor who earned his salt."

We are recovering from that delusion. Today the great man is the accomplisher, not the Parader. Prime Ministers are taking the reins from the hands of Kings.

Our Politics are the leftovers from the ages of parade. We still regard our President as an imitation King, our Governors and Mayors as fustian Dukes and Lords.

We have inaugural balls and governor's staffs with tin colonels, and say "Your Excellency" and pow-wow as much as we dare after the manner of the courts of the East and Past.

Women like it.

But we are getting over it. Little by little we are realizing that the Mayor of a City is more like the Manager of a Factory than like the Grand Duke of Wurtemberg; that the Governor of a State is, or ought to be, more like he hired man who superintends a Ranch or the building of a Bridge than like the Akhoond of Swat; and that the President of the United States is expected to make good in promoting the prosperity of the people, and not to pose.

The rise of the idea of such communal forms of business as the Postoffice, the Public School, and the Government Ownership of Public Utilities is not due to Socialism. Socialism is utterly antagonistic to the blood of Americans. Because it is the opposite of Democracy.

The idea referred to is gaining ground for the simple reason that we are more and more conceiving Government to be an industrial somewhat.

Government's first business is not to punish crime, or provide offices for grafters, or to make laws. Its first business is to see that every citizen has fair play in making a living, that unjust privilege is abolished, that all have a chance to work and earn honest pay, that those who work shall be prospered, and that those who will not work shall not eat.

Government ought to be a hive for the benefit of the workers, not the Drones.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—Georges Carpentier, the French fighter, does not run true to the American type of pugilist. He is a sensitive flower. He blushes handsomely and is all at ease among strangers. It is well that he has not perfected himself in our American slang. At his bout in Jersey he would have heard harsh words. The tingling blisters with low hung foreheads have little parlor polish. They chew tobacco and have rasping voices. And they yelled such epithets at Georges as these: "Poke him in the bread basket, you frog eater!" Slap him in the slats, don't kiss him!" "Up and at him you perfumed pup!"

Carpentier bowed to the uncouth crowd. Even smiled. Deschamps, his manager, is the comic opera type of Frenchman, excitable and explosive. He always implants a resounding smack on Georges' cheek after each victory. He dances about, eyes sparkling and arms waving.

They are constantly together, Deschamps basking in the reflected glory of the unknown boy he made champion of Europe. And they go to the opera and to the museums, the French love of the artistic being ingrained in each. Deschamps was shocked at an invitation for them to attend a burlesque show in New York. "It is not refined, what? No, we go instead to see the great Egyptian obelisk in the park."

Carpentier has polish. He dines at the most exclusive cafes and his table manners are perfect. He does not wolf his food or use the wrong spoon. The only touch of a sporting streak is revealed in his gay colored shirts and scarves.

He has made an excellent impression on the newspaper writers who have seen him. He is not given to boasting. He only smiles happily when his victories are mentioned. Even society has feted him. He has been invited to several dinners at homes on Long Island where only top notch members of aristocracy are welcome.

There is a very rich man down town who is the head of a great business. He recently brought his father here from the south to live with him. The old gentleman feared that he would be a burden and asked for something to do, so a desk was installed for him in one of the offices.

He puttered about doing small tasks and when others went to lunch he brought out a little lunch from his coat pocket and ate at his desk. The son heard of it but could not persuade his father to go to the expensive restaurants.

One day he visited the proprietor of a big restaurant and after a talk with him and a waiter returned to his office and sent for his father. "I have found a place," he said, "where you can get an excellent lunch for 20 cents." The price suited the father and the next day the son took him there.

Each day he goes there, orders from a large menu especially prepared for him and minus price lists. Then he goes to the cashier's cage and leaves 20 cents—an amount indeed which the waiter would spurn. But the son has fixed the waiter and the cashier and the bills are sent to him at the end of each month.

Chorus girls, so a press agent reports, have formed an Anti Stage Door Johnny Association and with cruel glances and haughty mien will repel the advances of rich and rapid idlers who await at the curb in their stumpy roadsters. The girls want more time for their art. They prefer a midnight snack out of the ice box to a wine washed dinner at a road house. So there!

THOSE PRICES
The price of silks and motor cars has reached a lower spot; but necessities, like cigars, still cost a frightful lot. The price of many silken duds is lower, I admit; but when I price a speck of spuds I straightway have a fit. I could exist without a hat all trimmed with costly lace; but I must have some bacon fat to feed my haggard face. Expensive hats have slumped, they say, but bacon does not fall, and so I bash my headpiece gray against the kitchen wall. The price has slumped on limousines, which ought to soothe my soul; but when I buy a can of beans it puts me in the hole. The things we really do not need are slumping you will find, and here a buck and there a seed the prices have declined; the dodos worn by glided loons cost less, if loons will buy; but oh, my friends, the poor man's prunes are still too beastly high. Don't think the profiteers are dead because some prices shrink; still, still they clutch us on our bread, on all we eat and drink; we can't afford to buy the hops and raisins when we'd brew.

To The Voters of Coshocton County

Having been honored by the Democratic electors of the Eighteenth-Nineteenth Senatorial District for nomination for State Senator I have considered it my duty to make as thoro a canvass as possible over the entire District. This District comprises all of Coshocton, Tuscarawas, and Guernsey Counties and parts of Noble and Monroe. In all this territory extending from Stark-co to the Ohio river, a distance of more than 100 miles, I was largely a stranger except in my own county.

For this reason I have spent practically the entire ten weeks in these outside counties acquainting the voters with my record and for the issues for which I stand. As a result I have been able to devote but little time among my own home people.

In the closing days of the campaign I simply desire to remind the people of Coshocton-co, who have honored me with two terms in the Lower House, that I am a candidate for State Senator and if elected to that responsible position I will do my utmost to render there the same conscientious service that I gave them in the House.

So long as I am entrusted with a seat in the General Assembly of Ohio I will continue to put service to the whole people above partisanship and devotion to principle above mere political expediency. I cannot promise more than this and if elected I give you my pledge that I will not do less. I have neither enemies to punish nor friends to reward, save that I consider every constituent, regardless of party, entitled to the best there is in me so long as I hold an elective office.

Again thanking you for your confidence in the past and bespeaking your thoughtful consideration at the polls on November 2, I am,

Sincerely Yours,

J. E. FOSTER

Suggestions for decorations and place cards for a Halloween party.

Halloween, that magic time which brings to life such things as spooks, ghosts, owls, along with big, black, bushy beasts, together with sheets and pillow slips, the proper raiment for this occasion, is again approaching. One reason why Halloween is such a popular event to celebrate with a party or dance is because it permits of such variety in decoration and entertainment.

Masquerade parties are always good fun and ghost parties and witch parties are always in order. Quaint little invitations may be written in verse and sent on a wise owl, screechy cat or goblin pumpkin. Many of the decorations and place cards may be made instead of bought. Black and orange paper, sheers and paste is all that is needed for the making of all kinds of appropriate trimmings. Pictured here are a few suggestions for place cards and decorations for table.

Hallowe'en Season Brings Out Prettiest Of Decorations For Social Functions' Settings

With many Hallowe'en parties already given and several planned for every day this week Coshocton people are entering into the spirit of the season with enthusiasm. The stores have taken on the Hallowe'en appearance with their displays of black cats, pumpkins and other orange and black decorations that lend attractiveness to the many parties and dances given at this season. Perhaps the abundance of appropriate decoration available at Hallowe'en time has aided in making it such a popular social season.

The origin of the Hallowe'en season is ably narrated in the following paragraphs quoted from an authority.

"Hallowe'en which brings to most of us visions of fun and jollity, is an old, old festival. The old Romans held it about the first of November in honor of Pomona, the goddess of fruit trees. In Britain the Druids celebrated a festival at the same time in honor of the sun god, and in thanksgiving for harvest, and the two festivals seem to have become one in the minds of the Britons. When the people became Christians the early Church Fathers wisely let them keep their old feast, but gave it a new association by holding it in commemoration of all departed souls. Thus the eve of the festival came to be called All Hallow E'en. The name comes from the old English word halwe, or as we now say, holy.

"Many beliefs grew up about the feast, such as the belief that on its one night of all the year, the spirits of the departed were allowed to visit their old homes. In many parts of the old countries food was left, hearths were carefully swept, and chairs were set in order before the inhabitants of the villages went to rest.

"Many of the old superstitions, some of them going back as far as pagan times, came to this country from our Puritan ancestors, and though they lost their meaning long ago, we still keep some of the quaint old customs.

Appropriate games aside from the usual ducking for apples and telling fortunes may be found in the library. There are several good books on parlor tricks and sleight-of-hand games which will give good suggestions for the family ghosts to use in entertaining little folk or even grown-ups.

Here is a good supper menu for the more pretentious party. For the ordinary kiddies' party, however, cider, doughnuts, apples, candy and nuts, or perhaps sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts would be plenty.

In the center of the table have a large pumpkin which has been scooped out and then filled with large, shaggy, white chrysanthemums. Around the centerpiece place a number of small witches. Dress little dolls in loose frocks of black with tall white conical hats and give each a little broom made out of wisps of the kitchen broom.

One of these witches may be placed so that she appears to be riding her broomstick, another may be peering out from under the flowers in the pumpkin bowl; and still another may be on top of the bowl looking into it. Put four candlesticks on four sides of the centerpiece. The place cards may be little brooms on which is tied a little white card with the name of the guest written on it. At each cover is also a little candy tripod.

These tripods are made by tying three pieces of stick candy together at the top with a narrow black ribbon. A tiny brass kettle is suspended from the top by a narrow black ribbon. These kettles may serve either as nut or candy cups. The tablecloth and napkins may be of crepe paper with a border of paper witches.

The crowning feature of the Hallowe'en party is the fortune cake. The cake is marked slightly into slices. In each slice there should be placed a little trinket which will foretell something in regard to the guest that happens to get it.

If a ring, the guest will be married within a year.

A button, single blessedness. The coin means riches, the horse shoe, good luck; a round disk of white card, no luck at all.

The red candy heart may have two meanings: If it is whole it shows there is a lover, but if broken it means a broken heart. A pebble foretells hard times.

These trinkets may be very inexpensive, but they afford a heap of fun for young folks at a Hallowe'en party. All gas and electric lights should be tabooed. Use candles hooded with artificial chrysanthemums.

Our sodas and candy make good with our customers. Busy Bee.

A dinner party was given Sunday by Mrs. G. E. Coffman of Warsaw. The guest list included: Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Drillhart, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Brillhart and children of Coshocton, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Brillhart of Zanesville, Mr. and Mrs. William Coffman, Dale Brillhart and Willard Coffman.

Thought His Time Had Come—Disappointed

"I never was more surprised in my life than when I took the first dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. My stomach trouble had been of eight years' standing, sometimes so bad as to cause convulsions, followed by hemorrhage. I thought my time in this world was short, and believed it the last medicine I would ever take. It is now eight weeks since, and I am feeling better than for many years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. The Perfect Color.
Green is a restful color. Oculists say that of all colors green is the most friendly to the optic nerve. In lands where eternal snows or eternal white sands dash up their glaring reflections, men have to shade their eyes or go blind. But green grass never bothers the eye. One can stare a forest in the face all day with impunity. Nature's greens never get on your nerves, and they never quarrel with any other of nature's colors and tints.

"SNOW WIDOW" OF CREE INDIANS, AGED 90, TO TAKE FOURTH HUSBAND

STANLEY, B. C., Oct. 25.—Mrs. dusk a redman makes his way to the John McKenzie, the "Snow Widow," its add idol of the Cree Indians, again is to become a bride at the age of 90. Along those fabled rivers that go Rumor has it that every evening at tumbling north of the Arctic the weird, tragic tale of the "Snow Widow" is still whispered at night in the glow of the campfires. Around the adventures of the aged Indian woman members of her own tribe are ever weaving new tales. But in the records of the Hudson Bay Company, which is now closing out its prairie lands to farm settlers, may be found the true story.

The Cree say the "Snow Widow" represents the great soul of the Far North, which can be found only among redmen and their squaws. Mrs. McKenzie lost three husbands, all trappers. Two were frozen to death. The third died of starvation. It was while the latter lay dying that Mrs. McKenzie's tragic adventure took place. They were camped a hundred miles north of Stanley Mission. In the dead of winter game became so scarce that with their two babies they faced starvation. Then the husband fell ill. Only food would save him.

With the two babies one nursing, Mrs. McKenzie started the hundred-mile trip with a famished dog team. After 30 miles the dogs died. Tucking the babies in the sled, she fastened the harness about her own waist and continued ten miles. Then one babe fell ill and died. She wrapped a blanket about the tiny body, placed it deep in the snow and out of the twigs of a pine tree fashioned a pitiful little cross which was placed over the spot. Then she continued the journey. On her arrival food was hurried to her husband, but he was dead. She became the "Snow Widow."

NO CONGESTION IS EXPECTED AT POLLS HERE ELECTION DAY

No serious congestion at the polls is expected in any of the precincts of Coshocton-co on election day. It is expected that the majority of the women will vote between 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning and between 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, as many of them will have their household duties to perform as well as exercising their new right of franchise. Since the re-districting of the county and the creation of 39 new precincts, practically all of the precincts have less than 200 voters. The greatest number is 237 in one of the precincts of Ward 4. Secretary of State Smith has recommended that the women vote between the hours of nine and three in order to facilitate the work of election officials but it is thought that this is intended to apply to counties where a sufficient number of new precincts have not been added.

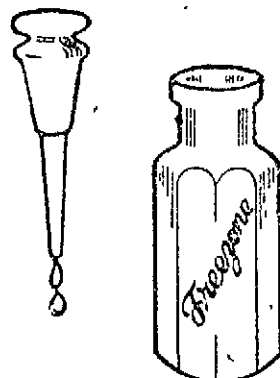

He Wasn't Spoofing

MANSFIELD, Oct. 25.—Howard Hildebrand, farmer, aged about 40 years, walked into an undertaking establishment at Butler early this morning and ordered the proprietor to take care of a body near the elevator. Hildebrand was advised to see a physician. He went immediately to the spot he had indicated and hanged himself on the arm of a telephone pole. He had been in ill health. Hildebrand is survived by his wife and one son.

tion has been found in seeded wheat.

The thing that most of these men had taken to be the fly was the grain aphid, which is especially plentiful at this time. It occurs on the wheat at the present time in two stages, the small green stage and the wing stage.

The reason that these men are unduly excited was that they had had infestation last year, and were unduly alarmed this year.

We even have a report that one man had a badly infested rye field, which on examination showed absolutely no infestation of Hessian Fly. The rye had turned yellow because of the hot weather.

Another man reports the finding of Hessian Fly in corn, which on a careful examination proved to be grain aphid. Reports and rumors are general in certain sections of the county that they have Hessian Fly and these reports should be disregarded until careful examination has been made. The fly does not occur at the present time on the top of the wheat, but is found down on the roots underneath the sheaf, and is a small white maggot.

In order to find them, pull up several of the largest stalks of wheat.

strip the outside layer off, and carefully examine to see if you can find a small white maggot. Pull off the next sheath down to the root, look carefully, then pull off the third sheath, if no maggots are found beneath that sheath, the stalk thus examined is not infested. Do this to several stalks of wheat before you decide that your wheat is clean or uninfested.

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and glossy, some streaked with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with lecithin. Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating iron which Nature intended it to have for health. In most of the modern foods these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-feren, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them.

A treatment of lecithin and iron peptonate as combined in Bio-feren increases the appetite, aids nutrition and invigorates the patient.

And Bio-feren in its tablet form is easy and palatable to take—no liquid iron discoloration of the teeth, no unpleasant taste. There is no secret or mystery about Bio-feren. Doctors prescribe it regularly because they know exactly what it contains as well as what it will do and they know they could not formulate a better up-building tonic.

The action of Bio-feren on the system is so beneficial, we are so sure of its giving you positive health and vigor, providing, of course, there is no serious, chronic ailment such as cancer, tuberculosis, etc., that we only sell it on the condition that you agree to return the empty package and accept a refund of your money unless you are entirely satisfied.

There is no use waiting for health and beauty. It is better to do things today than tomorrow. Go to your physician today—right now—he will advise Bio-feren. Then start taking it at once as he advises or as directions on the package call for. The guarantee protects your money. Interesting booklet may be had for the asking.

JOHN G. PRICE.

PRICE DRAFTED BENEFICIAL CHANGE IN WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW

John G. Price, Republican nominee for attorney general, was born in the city of Canton, Stark county, August 10, 1871. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Price, who still reside in Canton, where Mr. Price's father has lived for the past seventy-five years, he being one of the oldest residents of that city.

Mr. Price, a lawyer and member of the Franklin County Bar, spent his early days in Canton, graduating from the Canton high school in 1889. His first service in public life was that of a letter carrier in the Canton post office, from which position he was transferred to the postoffice department at Washington, D. C., by appointment of President McKinley in 1899. Working by day and attending law school at night he was able to complete his law course and received a degree from Georgetown University Law School. Shortly thereafter he moved to Columbus, Ohio, where he has since been engaged in the general practice of law, except during a period when he served in the office of prosecuting attorney of Franklin county, Ohio, and in the attorney general's office as special counsel and later as attorney general.

Mr. Price has been active in fraternal organizations and has always taken a lively interest in public affairs of the City of Columbus. He was a member of the original Recreation Commission elected by council some few years ago and was active in establishing the Boy Scout movement in Columbus, in which organization he has always taken a great interest up to the present time. Appointed by Governor Willis as a member of the Board of State Charities, he served for three years until his election as Attorney General. He is well known throughout the state especially by reason of his extensive speaking engagements in connection with the war activities, he having spoken in practically every county in the state during the war.

His term of office has been successful from every standpoint, his opinions having been sustained by the courts in practically every case where litigation ensued, and by special effort he has collected and paid into the state treasury during the first eighteen months of his administration the sum of $772,011.89, which is $182,944.49 more than was ever collected and paid into the state treasury thru the office of attorney general in the collection of delinquent accounts for the same period at any time in the past. In other words, during the eighteen months ending June 30, 1920 the effort made and the result achieved has produced extra revenue amounting to $182,944.49 over the largest amount ever collected by an attorney general during a similar period of time. In fact, the extra amount collected during the first eighteen months of the administration of Mr. Price as attorney general produced the sum of $71,536.31 over the entire expenses of the department during that period.

No more important piece of legislation was enacted by the 33rd General Assembly than the amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Law. This amendment was drafted by Attorney General John G. Price, favorably reported by the unanimous vote of the Labor Committee to which it was referred and received the unanimous vote of the members of the General Assembly. The amendment makes the Workmen's Compensation Law what it was intended to be, a compulsory protection to the workmen of Ohio and there is no question but that it enforced many of the unsatisfactory results of the past will be eliminated. The amendment leaves no loop hole for an employer of five or more workmen who does not comply with the law, but provides a fine for non-compliance and in addition that the attorney general may, after the expiration of ten days after notice, apply for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the business of an employer who has not contributed to the Workmen's Compensation Fund, thereby protecting his employees. This was a very necessary provision to fully carry out the purpose of the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Mr. Price up to the time of assuming the office of Attorney General was associated in the practice of law with Henry S. Ballard and Heffley R. Jones, with offices in the Hartman building, Columbus, Ohio.

In 1904 Mr. Price was married to Miss Salome C. Royer and they now reside at 1356 Neil Ave., Columbus, Ohio, with their three children, Jack, aged 15, Kathleen, 13, and Dick 1 month.

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night.

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who seldom had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING

West Lafayette, Wednesday Evening, Oct. 27

You will have the opportunity of hearing Hon. W. W.

Venable, Congressman from Missouri, and

Mrs. Jennie E. Johnson, of Ashland, Ohio.

DEAR PETEY:

Bet you a house and lot you'd stay in W-S a month if you ever got to know folks here like I have. Between business and Reynolds factories and a bully time—well my date book has been bubbling over! And, I'm still running into facts that would stagger even your imagination, old football, with all your kick!

Pete, take it straight from government figures direct to you, that every work day in the week R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. buys from our "Uncle Sam" enough revenue stamps to pay for a duplicate of the handsome new Winston-Salem post office building! Ever hear of such a thing?

And, if you want to get an eyeful of an army of more than 15,000 people, be down in the Reynolds factory district when the whistles blow! Never saw such a cigarette firing-up time in my life!

Peter, everytime you light a Camel in the future, call back on what I've slipped you about Camels—absolutely, the greatest cigarette at any price—for quality, for refreshing flavor, for mellow mild body, for freedom from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or odor! It's worth the busiest smoker's time to compare Camels with any cigarette in the world! Camels are simply a revelation! You know that.

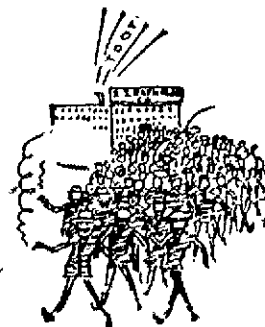

I'll open my eyes in Atlanta tomorrow! In the meantime here's a wad of best wishes I have in stock!

Yours

CIGARETTES

Winston-Salem, N. C.
Monday,

corner of Arkansas, was once practically a wilderness. Its development started 20 years ago. Blytheville, Ark., its largest town, was 20 years old last spring. In 1910 it had a population of 3849. In 1920 the population increased 67.5 per cent, now being 6447. The county's population grew from 30,468 in 1910 to 47,320 in 1920, or 55.3 per cent.

Crittenden-co nearby gained 30.6 per cent. Craighead-co 35.9 per cent and Phillips-co 32.3 per cent. The "bottom land" or alluvial soil counties of Arkansas made the greatest population gains of any counties in Arkansas.

Among the towns, few of which are more than 20 years old, population gains showing a tendency toward development include the following: Luxora 78.8 per cent increase; Manila, 72.8 per cent; Dumas, 116.6 per cent; McGhee, 105.3 per cent; Eudora, 97.7 per cent; Helena, 42 per cent; Lake Village 34.9 per cent; Earle, 35.6 per cent.

What is true of the Arkansas alluvial counties also is true of the Mississippi "delta" region and the Louisiana alluvial soil region. The settlers are becoming more and more numerous.

Greenwood, Miss., in the heart of the famous "Yazoo Delta" of Mississippi, had a population growth of 33.5 per cent. Crandall, Miss., which boasted 25 people in 1910, now has 500. Charleston, Miss., grew 64 per cent. Tallahatchie-co, a "bottom county," gained 23.5 per cent in population.

Exodus of Negroes

The figures are considered striking in view of the small per cent gain in total population for the states as a whole, due largely to the great exodus of the negro population. Whereas Mississippi's 1920 population shows a decrease since 1910, the "bottom counties" show big gains, indicating that the rich soil of the bottom counties is attracting large numbers of white farmers, many of whom are from northern states. They are finding that a growing season of 10 months each year makes it possible to raise livestock at a minimum cost of production and that 2 crops of many products, such as clover after wheat or oats; two yields of corn, etc., are assets of tremendous worth. They are finding also that the land values are much below those in the older farming regions while, on the other hand the soil is of such quality that its earning capacity is certain to make the land more and more valuable.

"An alluvial empire of super-soil" is the way the folks of the lower Mississippi valley refer to the country.

DANVILLE YOUTH

MAY LOSE EYE AS RESULT OF FIGHT

Clyde Cornell, Danville, was in a serious condition Monday in a Mt. Vernon hospital and physicians fear that his left eye may have to be removed, as the result of a fight in which he engaged with Thomas Porterfield, Bladensburg, Sunday afternoon at Bladensburg during the Danville-Bladensburg baseball game, which came to an abrupt ending at the close of the fourth inning with Danville in the lead.

Cornell and Porterfield, who were rooting for their respective teams, engaged in a controversy which led to blows and Porterfield's face was disfigured. Porterfield made a counter-attack on Cornell and slashed him in the face with a knife. Cornell was rushed to the Mt. Vernon hospital in Fred Ringwalt's automobile. Twenty-four stitches were required to close the wound.

EVANS FINED FOR ABUSING STEPSON

Harry Evans, colored barber, employed at H. C. Cogging's barber shop was fined $10 by Mayor Tish Monday morning after pleading guilty to a charge of slapping and choking his stepson, James Hay, Sunday afternoon at the home at the corner of 8th and Walnut-sts.

Evans claimed that the boy was looking into the cellar where Evans and some others were drinking wine.

Victim Of Auto Wreck Was Wife Of Dover Attorney

Mrs. Anna C. Seikel, 47, Dover, wife of Attorney Ed. C. Seikel, was killed Sunday afternoon when their Cole automobile turned turtle on the edge of a creek west of Dresden. It was erroneously reported Monday that the woman was Mrs. Sprankle, of Dover. Mr. Seikel, who was driving the car, said he could not account for the accident unless a wheel had struck a stone. He was passing another car at a point where the road curves around a high bank on one side and a creek on the other. Mr. and Mrs. Seikel were returning home from Columbus where they had spent Sunday with their two sons, who are students at Ohio State University.

CAMPAIGN TO END WITH BIG RALLIES

There is to be no let-up in political activity during the final week of the campaign in Coshocton-co. Both the Democratic and Republican committees have meetings arranged for every night this week at various points in the county, the full schedules appearing in advertisements in today's paper.

Tuesday night the Republicans will put on a big rally at the Sixth Street theater when Judge D. D. Woodmansee, Cincinnati, will address the voters. It is expected that the theater will be filled to overflowing as he bears the reputation of being an exceptionally brilliant speaker.

Congressman W. W. Venable, from Missouri, has been secured by the Democratic committee to be here all week speaking in different parts of the county. Mrs. Jennie E. Johnson will speak at Democratic meetings Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Democrats will hold their biggest meeting at Nellie Thursday night, preceded by a torchlight parade. Judge Robert Adair, Wooster, will speak Wednesday night at Cooperdale.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Toyland has voted for complete disarmament and in place of brilliant tin soldiers, guns, miniature cannons and other "deadly" war weapons will be jazzophone horns, ferry boats, trains, whales that

The younger generation is becoming more pacific, according to dealers as a result of recent war, parents don't let the children buy tin soldiers or other toys which relate to the military, said a dealer.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten" to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first do the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to tell each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a comforting thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NE Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

Do This For Constipation

THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "flushes," purges, physic. They gripe and weaken.

For lasting effect use a laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a tiny baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Erythraeae Senega and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, c/o Washington St., Monticello, N.Y. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

GREAT ALLUVIAL EMPIRE OF SUPER-SOIL BECKONS MANY FARMERS TO THE SOUTHLAND

New Wonderland Has Been Created Along Lower Mississippi By Huge Reclamation Programme and Tide of Immigration Has Turned Toward Rich Lands Where Crops Can Be Grown Ten Months In the Year—25,000,000 Acres Embraced In the Fertile District Along "American Nile"

By SAM D. TUSON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 25.—The tide of immigration, which has been westward for centuries, is beginning to swing southward. Homeseekers are finding the newest wonderland along the lower Mississippi river, in the "American Nile valley." Remarkable population growth, indicated in the late census returns, shows that this new general farming region is in its boom infancy.

Greatest interest of farmers centers in the alluvial or deposited soil region, which embraces 25,000,000 acres, starting at the mouth of the Ohio river, in southern Illinois and southeastern Missouri and extending to the Gulf of Mexico, with great areas of richest bottoms in eastern Arkansas, western Mississippi and eastern Louisiana.

Practically the whole region—as big as the combined areas of Delaware, Maryland, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and then some—has been a wilderness until the last few years. Levees to protect it from high water stages of the Mississippi river; drainage ditches to carry off surplus surface water, and the discovery that artesian wells can be "bored in" anywhere in the region are the three great factors that are paving the way for development.

The Mississippi river finally has been controlled by levees or earthen embankments, so that no floods in the lower valley are now feared. Drainage districts, organized like road districts, handle drainage problems. These undertakings have had the support of the United States government, which has contributed some $200,000,000 to the nation's greatest reclamation project.

Effective protection against water and the excellent water from artesian wells for drinking purposes have contributed enormously to improvement of health conditions, so that the region now has none of the dangers that it had 10 years ago or even five years ago.

Immigration has increased steadily and thriving new towns now exist where there were timber tracts 10 years ago. Towns 20 years old have had phenomenal growth and the farms about them have been settled and put under the plow in proportion.

ALASKAN DOGS FLY 4,000 MILES FROM NORTH WITH NEW YORK-NOME AVIATORS

Lieut. Eric C. Nelson and two of the dogs, photographed on arrival of the aviators at Mineola, L. I.

Alaskan dogs, of the famous blue-eyed Siberian type, which have gained fame for their endurance in the all-Alaska sweepstake races, were brought to Mineola, N. Y., from Nome by the U. S. aviators on their return from their trip to the gold country. The aviators left Mineola July 15. The distance covered on the return trip is about 4,000 miles.

MACSWINEY'S RITES

street and they were thrown into panic by the shooting. The harbor board at Cork had placed the flag at half mast in memory of lord mayor MacSwiney, but British troops forced the officials to haul down the flag entirely.

Two civilians were killed in an outbreak at Thurles and another was wounded. According to information from that town the civilians were held up by masked men wearing British uniforms. There was a serious situation at Belfast, where rioting had broken out late Monday causing the death of one person. Several others were wounded in clashes between Orange men and Sinn Feiners. Heavy forces of soldiers and black and tan policemen have been moved to strategic positions throughout Ireland ready for an emergency.

The body of Terence MacSwiney remained all night in Brixton jail in a plain glass topped coffin. Outside in the streets crowds gathered but were kept moving by the great force of 500 foot and mounted police on duty. Men and women drew back from the police lines and dropped to their knees in prayer.

The home office announced that the inquest would not be held until tomorrow.

Under the law the inquest must take place within 24 hours after the person over whom it is to be held dies but the home office delayed official action in this case in hope that public feeling would abate in the meantime.

A death watch over MacSwiney's body was established in Brixton jail and members of the family took turns in watching at the coffin. John MacSwiney the brother who was with the lord mayor when the latter died Monday morning and his two sisters Annie and Mary sat beside the coffin or knelt at its foot in prayer.

The three Sinn Fein hunger strikers who have given up their lives for Irish freedom are:

Terence MacSwiney, who died in Brixton jail in the 74th day of his self-imposed fast.

Michael Fitzgerald, who died in Cork jail in the 68th day of his hunger strike; and Joseph Murphy, who died in Cork jail after a hunger strike of 75 days.

Whether MacSwiney's body will be taken to Ireland for burial was not certain today. Sinn Fein leaders desire to have the body taken first to Dublin to rest in state before a public funeral is held at Cork, the lord mayor's home town.

NOTORIOUS CRIMINALS CAPTURED IN BANK HOLDUP

Bandits killed and wounded. "Jiggs" Losteiner, at left; Albert Joyce, center, and Harry Stone, right. Below, picture of bank scene of holdup. Arrows point to bullet holes in bank window and riddled windshield of bandits' car. Six bullets were fired through the windshield within a six-inch circle.

Eight bandits, at least three of whom boasted of long criminal records, attempted to "make a haul" of $50,000 at the Bedford, O., branch bank of the Cleveland Trust Company. An alarm system connecting the bank with nearby stores, warned neighboring store keepers. These men, armed heavily, met the bandits as they left the bank and in the battle that followed "Jiggs" Losteiner and Harry Stone were wounded and captured and Albert Joyce, another gunman, was killed. A fourth bandit also was

PLEDGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

Donahay Says He'll Remove Officials Who Shirk

XENIA, O. Oct. 25.—In the "bone-dry" rural regions of southwestern Ohio today, Vic Donahay, the Democratic nominee for governor, talked strict law enforcement, public economy and morality.

"It is now in the air that Ohio will go Democratic on Nov. 2," Donahay said. "My Republican opponent is a beaten man right now. I am going to win because I will have with me all good Democrats, besides the votes of tens of thousands of women who feel that Davis, if elected, would give the state of Ohio the same kind of government he gave the city of Cleveland. Large numbers of Republicans who approve of my record for economy in public office have assured me they will support me."

ON RIGHT SIDE
Donahay closes the week's campaigning with a meeting in Xenia tonight.

"The citizens of Ohio need never worry as to where they will find me on great public questions," Donahay said today. "It's mighty easy to tell right from wrong, and I'll be found on the right side of every question."

FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT
"I stand for law enforcement. If I find any public official over whom I have jurisdiction, who fails to enforce the laws against vice and crime and does not protect life and property, I'll remove him from office. People who know me personally know that I mean exactly what I say."

Donahay was armed with figures on the financial condition of Cleveland under the administration of Harry L. Davis.

"During his four years as mayor of Cleveland," said Donahay, "Mr. Davis added more than 2900 new job-holders to the city payroll, increased the city's debt nearly $27,000,000, and this year, when he faced an operating deficit of $6,000,000, he resigned to run for governor of Ohio. He now says that he'll run Ohio like he did the city of Cleveland. If he does, the state will be bankrupt in a very few months."

C. AGENTS CONFER NOV. 3-5.
The annual state wide conference of county agricultural agents will be held at the Ohio State University on November 3, 4 and 5.

Cement Impaired by Age.
In a test of the effects of age on cement, keeping more than a year seemed to cause impairment, and cement that had been stored more than two years showed about the same strength as fresh cement only when the sand and gravel in a concrete mixture were reduced about 25 per cent. Mixing the old cement with a 5 per cent calcium chloride solution instead of water greatly increased the strength.
